

Letters, We Send Letters Lots and Lots of Letters

Here are all of the “increasingly offensive and abusive” emails (plus a bonus) that I have written from my singular working email account to Prof. Moore (excluding the set to Delaney on which he was copied) since I discovered his libel at the Wikipedia. I have maintained the full email headers in this presentation to forestall any usual flim flam from the flim flam artiste of the Upper East Side, and as always challenge him to put up either some data or some money to back up his fat, full of shit, mouth.

I really am sorry to disturb you with this, but I think the nutso prof has gone around several new bends and you really might wish to put some real pressure on him to cease and desist before he disgraces your otherwise fine institution any further. The libel below was posted by him on my Wikipedia biography page, as a 'corrected' biography. It was so outrageous that even the generally unfriendly Wiki moderator removed it on the instant almost, although it remains on the page's archives, with a warning to the 'truthseekernyc' that it was in serious violation of several Wikipedia policies.

I cannot really believe you let him near any students.

I make no apologies at all for the 'offensive' language of my own, which is a pale shadow compared to what he wrote.

you actually thought this slander you penned would stand? fing idiot. i am sure liversidge will be overjoyed when he discovers how you have used him once again...or tried to. you are one of the most pathetic pieces of dreck i have ever encounterd..and i have encountered more than few. if i ever am face to face with you, i will kick your faggot brit butt from one wall to another.

John wrote me back rather quickly after seeing that I had forwarded, with an introduction, my first furious letter to him (and Dr. Brown) to his dean, and Prof. Smith:

Harvey,

My dear old thing!!! You are in a bad mood!! You pointed out to me in an email the other day that I lack the computing skills necessary to use PubMed. How, then, could I possibly do something as technically sophisticated as editing a Wikipedia entry? I'm afraid you can't have it both ways. I'm afraid you'll need to direct your venom elsewhere. I did get a laugh out of the altered entry though. I don't know what the original said, but the revised version does seem pretty good!

Best wishes to our strongest asset.

if you want to avoid a serious libel suit here in mexico which your university will not pay the freight on, then best write me a very formal letter dissociating yourself in toto from the garbage that was posted on the wikipedia.

it is an easy matter to prove who wrote the wiki material (as it all essentially quoted from your previous 'writings') and i am pretty certain the ip that is recorded by the wiki will trace back to you pretty easily even if you scrub your hard disc which i imagine you are doing right now.

you think this is games...just keep acting as you have been jackass and it is you who will continue to go down in flames (if you can be burned any more seriously than you already have been) while the aids dissenters continue to triumph, only this time you will take your universtiy down with you.

a show trial in mexico will be a lot of fun ...for me..not for you..who it will cost a bundle that i am sure you do not have can you imagine for a millisecond that anyone in authority at cornell would support supports your insane gibberish in public?

make sure to read the essay that has been on the top of the ybyl page since yesterday for further proof of the contempt that my colleagues who count hold me...

just like the material i sent you for your edification from sir henry, you will no doubt pretend to ignore it..no matter and do look at this weekend's sunday funny pages! i bet you can never guess who will be featured on this wildly popular feature?

it offers the simplest proof that the statements in the altered wiki biography concerning my leaving nature biotechnology are total libel...as is every other malicious sentence you wrote...but this one will be particularly impressive to a magistrate...as much as last year's mexican nobel laureate filing an affidavit as to the real circumstance behind my severance from the ibt....i don't imagine you will answer the papers that you can expect to be served to you and your dean in the next weeks, blowing them off as a mexican court with no jurisdiction over you no matter what verdict and damages are given, so a jury will not be necessary.

Dear Prof. Moore,

I have recently become aware that in your habitual, criminally minded mode you are once again spreading blatant lies about Dr. Bialy, YBYL and myself as widely over the internet as your feeble connections permit. Among the many falsehoods being propagated at AIDSTruthiness.org(asm) is that Dr. Bialy offered to sell me out for 10,000 pieces of devalued US currency. As is clearly printed in the email exchange in which he offered to bet you 10k US that your cock-sure declaration of the identity of himself and me was, like almost everything you write, a product of your febrile imagination, he wrote you that he would produce me to the satisfaction of everyone except you. Well after your cowardly refusal, I was forced to make it abundantly clear that anyone with a fifth form education could prove for themselves that Dr. Bialy and I could not possibly be the same person, and in fact could learn a great deal about our relationship by carefully following the guideposts on the site, easily found by typing "Subversive Grad. Student" in the search box, or clicking on "From The Edges" and then reading...something I understand you have a great deal of difficulty in doing because of all the phenothiazines you need to take.

I trust this has set all necessary records straighter than Clark Kent.

Yours in eternal enmity,

Subversive

you must NOT write me anything about today's funny page that you will not look at nor even hear about second hand since none of the handful of denialists who do look at but do not take seriously my modest internet offering are in your "loops"*

if you do, you are demonstrably way more lunatico que moi, cherie

* a technical term you need to discuss with your "business partner" Bob ... if you have not studied his treatise on loop theory and infectious disease...you should...it is one of the more entertaining pieces he has ever not penned for himself, and it didn't kill hundreds of thousands, if not millions, because of its publication
